

Dear Friends and Partners in Life,

August marks the beginning of a new season. As students head back to school and families settle into new routines, we know that many young women are also facing unexpected pregnancies and uncertain futures.

For some, the news of a pregnancy can feel overwhelming. Questions about school, finances, relationships, and the future can make abortion seem like the only option. That is why Community Pregnancy Center exists. We are here to provide compassionate care, accurate medical information, and practical support so every woman knows she has options and does not have to walk this journey alone.

As we prepare for this busy season, we are reminded that every appointment is an opportunity to share hope. Whether through a pregnancy test, ultrasound, mentoring, or simply listening with compassion, each interaction has the potential to change the course of a life.

We invite you to join us in praying for the women who will walk through our doors this month. Pray that they will find hope instead of fear, support instead of isolation, and the courage to choose life for their babies.

Thank you for standing with us. Your faithful partnership makes it possible for women, men, and families in our community to receive the care and encouragement they need during one of the most important moments of their lives.

May God bless you as we enter this new season together.

With gratitude,

Anjali

After talking to my boyfriend I decided to have an abortion

When "Julia" first walked through our doors, she was certain she knew what she was going to do.

"Julia" was in her late twenties when she came to Community Pregnancy Center in July seeking information before an abortion. She shared that when she first learned she was pregnant, she was excited. She wanted this baby.

But life had become overwhelming.

As she struggled with alcohol and substance abuse, she began to believe her baby would be better off without the life she could offer. After talking with her boyfriend and others around her, abortion seemed like the only answer.

During her visit, "Julia" met with one of our advocates and received an ultrasound. Although she showed little emotion, our team continued to care for her with compassion and dignity, knowing that every conversation matters.

What stood out most was hearing that faith was still a part of her life. She shared that she and her husband pray before meals and often open the Bible together for comfort. Even in the midst of difficult circumstances, the seeds of faith remain.

Today, "Juila" is searching for stable housing for herself and her three children while navigating many challenges. She declined a follow-up appointment, but her story is not over.

Would you join us in praying for "Juila" and the many women we see like her? Pray that she finds the support and stability she needs to choose Life for baby, that her faith continues to grow, and that she experiences the love and grace of Jesus in a life-changing way.

Thank you for making it possible for us to be there for women, regardless of where they are on their journey. Your faithful support ensures that every person who enters our center encounters compassion, hope, and the love of Christ.

This summer, we have been blessed by the faithful prayers of several mission teams from Church of the Nations who came to CPC to pray over our building, our staff, and the women, men, and families we serve. These teams walked through our center, lifted up our ministry, and covered the work happening here in prayer. We are so grateful for the reminder that we are not serving alone. God is building a community of people who are standing with us and praying for the lives impacted through CPC.

We would love to continue this opportunity and invite other groups to join us. Gather your small group, church group, Bible study, friends, or ministry team and come spend time praying at CPC.

Walk through our building, pray over the rooms where conversations happen, the women and families who visit, and the staff and volunteers who serve each day. Pray that every person who walks through our doors would experience compassion, hope, and the love of Christ.

Would your group like to come pray with us?

To schedule a time for your prayer team to visit CPC, please contact us at info@cpcanchorage.com. We would love to welcome you and help plan a meaningful time of prayer at our center.

Thank you for standing with us and covering this ministry in prayer.
